CHANDLER WILL HEAD JAYCEES; BOARD NAMED

Charles Chandler was elected president of the Cameron Junior Chamber of Commerce and will be installed at the Jaycee Banquet April 16 at the National Guard Armory in Cameron.

Bruce Crook was elected first vice president; Donald Pimble, second vice president; Littleton Barrett, treasurer, and Charles Moraw, secretary.

Elected to the Board of Directors were Walter Odstreil, Stewart Perkins and Wallace Small. Rev. Paul McCallum, retiring president, will also serve on the Board.

Tickets for the annual banquet and dance are now available through Jaycee members. Charles Moraw is ticket chairman. Joe Lee Heitman and his band will furnish music for the dance.

Chandler said that a full year of projects for Cameron Jaycees will begin with the Youth Driving Road-e-o on May 1. Winner of the Road-e-o, sponsored annually by the local Jaycees, will compete in the state Driving Road-e-o and the state winner will go on to the national contest where the top driver receives a cash award or scholarship and an automobile.

Rev. McCollum said that 10 new members had been added to the Cameron Junior Chamber during a recent membership drive. He added that membership application cards were still available from any Jaycee.

Cameron was well represented at the last Governor's Library Conference in Austin Wednesday.

Not only Cameron, but hundreds of other communities and counties throughout the state responded.

It was noted the other day that pre-registration was approaching 2,000 people when about 1,500 had been expected.

It is encouraging to know that Texans everywhere share such a basic interest in general library improvement in the state. Texas now ranks 35th in library support among the 50.

And it is timely that Cameron's brand new library soon will be opening for the use of Cameron and area residents.

Wife Jan joins 107, christened thus on this first number of the 107th, in expressing appreciation for nine eventful years in Cameron and Milam County. Leslie and Martin, if he has time, join in acknowledging the good things shared with Milam Countians and the experience of a lifetime in these years.

Cameron's roots are deep and its future promising. We have seen momentous change throughout the State in the past five years particularly, and it appears even greater development lies ahead.

We follow a line of newspaper people who breathe life, and some time, fire into these columns, which will grow more numerous as Cameron and Milam County grow.

It is a worthwhile test to venture beyond this long beginning.

TWU Group Brings 'Dance In Religion' Program To Cameron

The Modern Dance Group of the Texas Woman's University assisted by members of the Modern Choir of the University will present a program of "Dance in Religion" at 3 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

Sponsored by TWU Alumnae, First Methodist Church, All Saints Episcopal Church and Three Arts Club, the program is open to the public.

Three important religious festivals - Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter - will be presented in dance and song, a traditional means of celebration throughout the centuries. The program depicts various aspects of religious practice, with emphasis on praise and thanksgiving. (see related picture inside)

Dr. Anne Schley Duggan, dean of the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and Director of the Modern Dance Group, will serve as narrator for the program. Mary Campbell is the accompanist for the group.

Guilty Plea Nets 3-Year Sentence

Albert James Glover Wednesday, March 16, in Milam District Court entered a plea of guilty to murder with motor vehicle and drew a sentence of three years in Texas Department of Corrections, Huntsville.

City, Delegation Discuss 8th St.; Extensions Planned

The City Council Tuesday met with a delegation of East Eighth St. residents about a paving-curb-ing project and approved about $4700 in new water extensions.

Mayor Bassel Wilson noted that 600 feet of six-inch waterline and a fire hydrant will be replaced at East 18th St. and Hoover.

And a 940-foot, six-inch waterline extension is scheduled for West 12th St. and Vogelsang with fire hydrants going in at Vogelsang and 12th St. and Archer and 12th St.

Mayor Wilson and the Council assured a delegation of East Eighth St. residents that the City would put down a double curb penetration surface when letters delivered to residents along the street are returned with acknowledgment for curbing of property.

Letters asking 100 per cent curbing participation of property owners on E. Eighth St. from North Washington east to North Jackson were delivered to property owners last week.

City officials assured that curbing work would begin immediately after all letters with acknowledgements have been turned in. An April 5 deadline was set. Then the double penetration street work would be done.

In other Council activity, three men were appointed to the 1965-67 City Equalization Board following reading of the ordinance. They are: August Kunz, Walter Lucas and J. J. Heitman.

County Registers 691 More Voters

Milam County registered about 350 voters in the last two days before the mid-night March 17 deadline for free voter registration.

Valler White, tax assessor-collector, said 691 registered in Milam County under the new voting law made necessary by federal court ruling against the poll tax. He said 3838 had previously paid a poll tax, bringing the total registered voters to 4,529.

During previous presidential election years the total registered voters has exceeded 5,000.

District Atty. John B. Henderson Jr. said the maximum punishment under Texas law for such a charge is five years. The non-jury trial was held in 30th District Court with Judge W. C. Wallace presiding.

Glover was indicted by a Milam District Grand Jury in connection with a car collision Christmas Eve Day, 1965, seven miles north of Cameron on US 77.

Occupants of the second vehicle in collision with the car driven by Glover died about 30 to 40 minutes after collision occurred, Henderson reported.

Dead from injuries were: Mr. and Mrs. William T. Taylor of Bonham.

Glover entered a plea of guilty to driving while intoxicated at the time of collision which caused the Bonham couple's deaths.

Witnesses in the trial were: Marzell Williams of Dallas, Highway Patrolman Leroy Broadus of Cameron, Freddie Giebel of Mansfield, Texas, Ed Laywell of Cameron and Joe Denton Jr. of Bonham.

Henderson noted that Glover will be eligible for parole after serving enough time on good behavior at Huntsville to gain credit for year sentence.

Pond Creek Voters To Decide Project

Pond Creek flood area residents will vote April 16 on a $200,000 bond project to construct flood control ponds and lakes.

The Pond Creek Watershed Authority project would include about 40,000 acres in Falls and Milam counties. Authority president A. T. Garrett said that a fact sheet had been prepared by the Authority Directors and was being mailed to all landowners and eligible voters within the 40,000 acre area.

Pond Creek Authority was first organized in 1957 and an early proposal for a 100,000 acre flood control project failed to carry.

Voting place for the bond issue will be the Tom Vitek home north of the Rosebud City Lake.

Girl Scout Art Show Saturday

Cameron will again host the District 4 Girl Scout Art Show with entries from Rockdale, Georgetown, Taylor, Round Rock, Elgin, Lexington, Florence and Cameron.

The show, to be held at Methodist Fellowship Hall, Saturday, will be open to the public from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Two divisions for the show are visual arts and performing arts.

The morning program will include Tibby the Magician and square and folk dancing taught by Mark Towery. Following a sack lunch at the Fellowship Hall the Scouts will present a Folk Dance Festival.

Arts and crafts will be judged in the morning and 20 winners will be selected for the Girl Scout Council Art Show in Austin April 20. The Folk Festival dancers will also be judged.

The art show exhibits will be judged on seven points which include originality, good form and balance of color. Cadets, Junior Girl Scouts and Brownies will compete in their own age level.

Winning entries in the Council Art Show will be used for exhibits during the year.

Mrs. James Kahler, chairman of the district show, said about 200 Girl Scouts and leaders are expected Saturday. Mrs. Lester Williams is District 4 chairman.

Purposes and objectives of the Cameron Industrial Foundation have been defined, following a recent meeting last week of the Foundation board.

A fund drive is scheduled to begin May 1, according to Bill Burns, fund drive chairman. Primary function of the Foundation, which seeks $100,000 for industrial development, is:

"To provide financing, facilities and location for industry, thereby attracting to the Cameron area capital investment in buildings, plants, equipment, inventories and associated payrolls."

This is the stated purpose on a brochure released by the Industrial Foundation's publicity committee.

A three-point answer is given to the question: "What are the objectives of the foundation?"

The Foundation proposes to budget the $100,000 three ways:

ONE--$40,000--Purchase of land and preparing it for use (an option on one 30-acre site just west of Cameron has already been taken).

TWO--$35,000--Promoting the industrial site.

THREE--$25,000--Building fund reserve.

This means a reserve for initiating and financing facilities, if necessary and feasible, for lease or sale to any industrial activity beneficial to the Cameron area.

Foundation officers emphasize that cost of a membership in the Cameron Industrial Foundation is $100 cash.

This is the cost of an individual share in the Foundation, a non-profit organization.

Memberships are urged in the Foundation.

"For the businessman of Cameron--success of the Foundation will provide more customers, primarily younger families and greater income and economic stability.

"For the employee--When the business that employs you prospers, your job is more secure and your employer can afford to pay better salaries.

"For the property owner--population growth in an area means better sale values for property and higher rental incomes from property.

"For everyone--new homes and plant investments in and around Cameron will mean better schools, better City and County government, better facilities, and will generally make Cameron a more attractive place in which to live."

These are the basic reasons forwarded by Foundation officials for investing in the Cameron Industrial Foundation, whose drive for the $100,000 is expected to begin May 1.

Board officers: Narvie Caperton, Chairman; R. W. Wells, vice-chairman; Henry Siebman, secretary treasurer.

Directors are: Bill Burns (finance chairman), B. F. Grimes, Frank Luecke, Gene Smitherman, John B. Henderson Jr., Don G. Humble, Lester Williams, Forrest Sapp, Hilliard Thomas, Charlie Burke, Coleman Duncum, and Monroe Fuchs. Other committee members are Albert Collins, finance and E. A. Perrin, sites.

Mailing Scheduled For CISD Patrons On Desegregation

A mailing goes out next week to the families of 2,000 Cameron Independent School District students listing 17 points under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. A 30-day pre-enrollment program for the 1966 fall term begins April 1.

The Board met last Thursday night to review provisions of the Act and new interpretations since its enactment.

Supt. D. R. Dodson was in Austin last week for a meeting of Central Texas school officials who reviewed the plan for "Freedom of Choice."

Quoting from the mailing going out: "Each student or his parent, or other adult person acting as parent, is required to choose the school the student will attend next school year. The choice period will begin April 1, 1966 and close April 30, 1966."

Included with the 17-point explanation will be a form on which choice of school is to be made, signed and returned to Cameron Independent School District. And a cover letter explains the mailing.

The Board authorized the mailing under the law during the Thursday night meeting.

Poage Announces Addition To Staff

Congressman V. R. Poage of the 11th District announced that John F. O'Neal, lawyer, had joined his staff as Administrative Assistant.

O'Neal, 28, and the father of two children, was born in Dallas but moved to Waco 11 years ago. He attended Baylor University and holds both the B.A. and LL.B. degrees. He has practiced law for several years and has served as County Attorney of Hamilton County. He married the former Barbara Campbell of Bosqueville. He has been active in the work of the Democratic Party and is a member of both the McLennan County Bar and the State Bar of Texas.

Poage said that he felt very fortunate to secure the help of Mr. O'Neal. He said that the Assistant's position had not been filled for the last several months and that the work of Congressional offices is so heavy that it is utterly impossible for one man to handle all of the contacts between constituents and at the same time to have even a slight familiarity with legislation.

Poage said, "I think my first duty is legislative, but I always want this office to be in a position to render the maximum help to every citizen in the 11th District who has a problem with any branch of the Federal government. We cannot and should not dictate the actions of the Administrative Branch, but in most cases we can and are glad to arrange contacts. Mr. O'Neal is here to help. Feel free to call on us."

Some of Cong. Poage's former assistants were: Frank Jones, manager of the Temple Chamber of Commerce; Narvie Caperton, postmaster at Cameron; Dr. Robert T. Miller, head of the Political Science Department at Baylor University; Lucy C. Sharp, Washington representative of the American Hospital Association; William L. Sleeper, former Chief Attorney of the Waco office of the Veterans Administration; Lattimore Upshaw with the business office of the Temple Telegram; and Clarence M. Elwell, now deceased.

The Congressmen added: "I believe that I have the most efficient and cooperative group of staff assistants to be found in any office. They do a fine job but we need man who knows both the people of the District and the people in the Departments here. I think that John will soon have these contacts."

The other members of Cong. Poage's staff who work in both the Washington and the Texas offices are: Miss Ruth Lair, Mrs. Weida Mae Norris, and Miss Katherine Holstead.

Mrs. C. H. Pattie works full time the year around in the Washington office and Mrs. Era O. Stewart is in the Waco office every afternoon. Incidentally, Mrs. Stewart began her career as a Secretary with a job in Mr. Poage's law office as his first secretary.

If you take a minute to check our list of winning vehicle identification numbers, you may know how it feels this week.

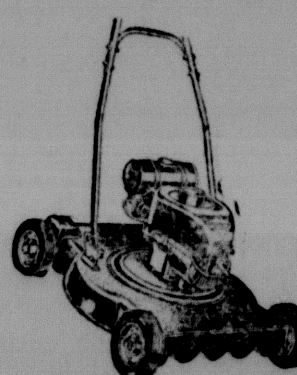

The contest's in its last week. So hurry. Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster — the symbols plus the rest of the numbers — $2,332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past six weeks. Every week 72 winners were posted on the showroom wall.

You may have missed your number before. No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number.

Contest Rules: Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Buick and Co., P.O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Hurry. Buick's $1,000,000 Sweepstakes is in its last week.

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.

Tabasco Beef Mold's A Ringer!

Heartier menus hit the spot in cool weather, and that all-American favorite—ground beef—will get the dinner call often. Instead of shaping the beef and other ingredients into the familiar loaf, pack the mixture in a ring mold, heaping the center with hot mashed potatoes and surrounding it with cooked beans, beets, etc.

Zesty Tabasco sauce, the unique liquid red pepper seasoning bottled at Avery Island, Louisiana, gives spicy flavor to this appetizing beef ring.

Tabasco Beef Ring
2 pounds ground beef 2 eggs
1 cup prepared stuffing mix 1 medium onion, minced
1/2 cup milk 2 teaspoons salt
1 1/2 teaspoons Tabasco
Combine and blend all ingredients. Pack into a greased 9-inch ring mold. Bake in a 350° F. oven about 25 to 30 minutes. Gently remove meat from mold and place on platter; fill center of meat with mashed potatoes. Surround with cooked beans, beets, etc.
YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Probably the fastest-selling artificial lure on the market today is the plastic worm.

These colorful, soft plastic imitation worms have been around for years. But they have gained universal popularity only in recent years. Much of their new-found success can be attributed to modern engineering techniques. So limp and life like is today's plastic worm that it actually looks alive in the water.

At first, most plastic worms were manufactured in basic black and red colors. But lately they've been showing up in fishermen's tackle boxes in effluent, vivid colors. And, surprisingly, most of them work.

One of the hottest worms in Central Texas is fluorescent orange-red.

At Caddo Lake along the Texas-Louisiana border, the blue worm is very popular.

But at Lake O the Pines in Northeast Texas, purple seems to get the best results.

Most anglers experiment with different colors—black, brown, red, yellow, pink-a-dot—until they find one that appeals to the bass.

Worms can be fished in many different ways.

Some fishermen use worms such any weight. They cast them with spinning tackle and work them slowly through moss beds and other vegetation close to shore.

Others use a weight to pull them down on the bottom, retrieving them in slow, straight-line jerks.

Like any other angling method, the proper technique in worm fishing on any particular body of water requires experimentation.

There are many ways to rig worms for bass fishing. Some fishermen simply thread a hook through the head of the worm and attach it to the business end of their lines and use it without any weight. Others buy weighted worms with the lead concealed inside the worm head.

Some prefer a worm with a 1/2 lb. This gives it a seductive wiggle in the water. Others simply add a small, split-shot similar to the leader just above the worm.

Another method is to thread the hook in the worm head, attach the hook to a piece of monofilament about 15 inches long and add a swivel on the other end of the leader. Above the swivel, on the main line itself, a sliding sinker is added. This main line of course must be run through the sliding sinker before the line is attached to the other end of the swivel. Sinker provides weight for casting and for carrying the worm to the bottom. But should a fish pick up the worm, the line will slide through the sinker and the fish will detect no hindrance.

Anglers adopting this method let the bass run with the worm. When the fish steps to turn the bait over in its mouth (in order to swallow the worm head first) the fisherman sets the hook hard. Then the battle starts.

Some fishermen prefer two or more hooks in their worms, one on front and the other back close to the tail. This tail hook is added because fish sometimes strike short of the head hook.

A simple method of "hooking up" for this type of worm fishing is to thread braided line almost the full length of the worm with a needle. Then attach an extra hook near the tail. This braided line then is tied to the head hook and the main line.

Idea is that braided line is so limp that when threaded through the worm it will not change the action of the bait. But the braided line must always be just the right length or the action will be altered.

Much of the present-day success of the worm also can be attributed to new concepts in bass fishing. A trend in discovery is that most grandpa bass hang out near the bottom. So, to suc-

Medical & Dental Expenses Explained By IRS Officer

Special rules apply to deductions for medical and dental expenses on Federal income tax returns, A. P. Andrews, administrative officer of Internal Revenue in Temple, Texas, said today.

Deductible expenses include amounts paid for diagnosis, prevention, cure, correction or treatment of a physical or mental defect or illness, and for ordinary transportation necessary to get medical care, he explained.

Payments for doctor, dentist, nurse and hospital bills, and payments for eyeglasses, artificial teeth, hearing aids, medical or surgical appliances, braces, X-ray films, etc., are deductible.

Elly catch the big ones, you must

Most popular method of working the worm is to cast out and allow it to sink to the bottom. Then taking up slack in the line, you barely lift the bait, make a couple of turns on the reel handle then allow the worm to flutter back down. Repeat this procedure slowly, letting the worm go up and down to really make it flutter.

When a fish first takes the worm, the tendency is to immediately set the hook. Don't do it! Instead, keep the line tight, but no taut. Let the bass move off with it. After a few seconds, to allow the bass time to get the worm entirely inside its mouth, lay back on the rod and drive the hook home.

As you work a worm along the bottom you'll continually be fouling up on obstructions. This is to be expected. But to catch bass you must work your bait where the fish habitually hang out. Many worm fishermen use a weedless hook—one with some type of weed guard above the point of the hook. This prevents a lot of snagging.

One way to free a snagged hook is to use a simple device made from an old sparkplug. Attach a paper clip on one end of the plug. When the bait fouls, tighten your line, clip the pin on the line and drop the sparkplug. Let it run down the line until it falls against the bait.

Usually, the falling weight will jar the hook loose. If it doesn't then wiggle the line, making the weight rise and fall, and soon the worm will come free.

Just because you're fouling up occasionally, doesn't mean you should move obstructions on the bottom, the better are your chances of catching bass.

Fouling up is just one handicap you learn to accept in this kind of fishing.

examination or treatments, and premiums for hospital and medical insurance are deductible.

The cost of medicines and drugs is deductible as medical expense only by the amount it exceeds one percent of the taxpayer's income reported on line 9, page 1 of Form 1040. The Revenue Act of 1964 removes this limitation with respect to a taxpayer or his spouse, if either is 65 or older, or to a dependent parent who is 65 or older.

You cannot deduct payments for funeral expenses, cemetery plots, illegal operations and illegal drugs, life insurance premiums, travel for a rest or change, or the portion of premiums paid for health and accident policies covering loss of earnings.

The total of the deductible items must be reduced by 3 percent of the income reported on line 9, page 1 of Form 1040. If however, either the taxpayer or his wife is 65 or older, they are not required to reduce the amounts of their medical and drug expenses by the 1 percent, but their medical and dental expenses by the 3 percent of the amount on line 9, page 1. Also, the amount paid by a taxpayer for the care of a dependent mother or father 65 or older is not required to be reduced by the 1 percent or 3 percent amounts, if the taxpayer furnished over half his parent's support for 1965.

Jr. Broiler Contest

Starts Friday With

Courthouse Ceremony

Milam County's Junior Broiler Contest begins Friday, March 25, when some 55 Cameron and Temple sponsors will present baby chicks to contestants.

The chicks will be presented to growers at 4 p.m. Friday at the courthouse in Cameron. This will be the 12th consecutive broiler program conducted by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

Each grower, qualified by his or her membership in the County 4-H or school FFA chapters, will receive fifty baby chicks from their sponsor. The chicks are raised according to FFA and 4-H specifications for an 8 week period, and the best broilers in the flock are selected for judging. This year the show will be held on Saturday, May 21, with an awards banquet that evening.

Fred Will Hornung of Cameron is chairman of the county broiler program this year. Other members of the committee are: Charles Brady, Leo Fuchs, Bill Archer, Monroe Fuchs, Gus Ebel, Allen Dodson, J. D. Moore and Ronald Bailey.

Tabasco Tells A Fish Story

Of the 210 varieties of fish and shellfish caught in this country, most homemakers are familiar with only a few. But unfamiliar varieties really should pose no cooking problem because one basic type of preparation is successful with most fish. This is the shallow fat method known as pan-frying or sautéing. Small fish such as porgy and amulet may be cooked whole, as are sea scallops; larger fish such as flounder are often cut into fillets.

Whichever you choose, all are delicious dipped in an egg mixture flavored with Tabasco liquid red pepper seasoning, rolled in bread or cracker crumbs until well coated, and then sautéed quickly in melted butter until golden brown. You'll find a little Tabasco adds just enough spice to enhance the delicate flavor of all fish.

Tabasco Sautéed Fish

3 pounds small whole dressed fish or 1 to 1½ pounds fish fillets or sea scallops
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco, divided
Packaged dried bread crumbs or cracker crumbs
1/4 cup butter

Sprinkle fish with salt. Beat egg with water and 1/4 teaspoon of the Tabasco. Dip fish into egg mixture, then roll in bread crumbs to coat well. Heat butter in skillet only until melted; stir in remaining 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco, then continue heating. Sauté fish quickly over moderate heat until underside is crisp and golden, about 2 to 3 minutes. Turn carefully; continue cooking until other side is golden brown and fish is easily flaked with a fork. For scallops, sauté over moderate heat, turning frequently until golden brown on all sides and scallops are cooked but still juicy, about 8 minutes. YIELD: 4 servings.

Can't Shout Above The Noise? Beware, It's A Health Hazard

COLLEGE STATION
Excessive noise in the ordinary home can be a health hazard, says Mrs. Roris Myers, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

A recent survey by state and USDA investigators measured noise in a number of Georgia farm community homes over several different 24-hour periods. The study, which had the advantage of avoiding big city background sounds, turned up some interesting findings.

Researchers found that the home maker's so-called "quiet hour" after everyone has gone to work and school in the morning, can be one of the noisiest periods of the day.

Average noise levels during this period in one home reached more than 77 decibels. In another home the average level was about 80 decibels. In a third, it was more than 81 decibels. The decibel measures the intensity of sound. Readings from 0-60 are in the faint to moderate zone. The 60-100 range runs from loud to deafening. Scientists are in general agreement that sustained levels from 95 to 100 are hazardous to the ear. Level from 100-120 can cause temporary deafness, and levels in the 130 to 140 range can result in permanent loss of hearing.

Other time periods which measured in the 70-80 decibel range include from 7 to 8 a.m.; from noon to 2 p.m.; and from 5 to 9 p.m. According to Dr. Lee E. Farr of Houston, professor of nuclear and environmental science,

University of Texas Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences, this kind of noise level will commonly produce tiredness and irritability.

Medical investigators have found that sustained sounds near the 100 decibel range can produce gastric ulcers. An Air Force study indicates continued high noise levels can cause indigestion, increase body temperature, impair vision, and in extreme cases, cause nervous disorders.

What can the homemaker do about it? A significant number listen to an appliance before buying. Many more are making better use of the sound-killing qualities of draperies, rugs, upholstered furniture and wall coverings. One scientist advises families to "use a little consideration," and not turn on radios, TV's and record players at the same time.

WEED CONTROL

Wet fields in parts of Texas have delayed land preparation and could mean a real battle is shaping up over the control of weeds and grass in crops. Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist at Texas A&M University, says chemicals are now available which can be used at planting time, pre-emergents, or later as post-emergents to aid in the fight. Because of complications involved in the use of chemicals, he recommends that producers contact their local county agent for details on their use.

INTERPLANTING CROPS

Farmers are cautioned by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to get complete details on regulations, problems of application and other facts regarding pesticide usage on interplanted crops. They emphasize that compatibility of production practices must be considered along with net profit per acre when planting decisions are being made.

Gallant Texas Paddle-Wheeler

One of the most distinguished Texas Naval boats is the Riverboat Commodore, which has plowed its way up and down Lake Austin for the past 17 years.

Reminiscent of the Old Days and tribute to modern "sea-farers" wishing to preserve its colorful duties, Riverboat Commodore will celebrate its 17th birthday on Sunday, March 20. It was commissioned by the late Gov. Beauford Lester on a similar Sunday, March 20, 1949. The charming water-craft was built and is still owned and operated (as a party boat) by Texas Navy Commodore and Mrs. Marion Fowler of Austin.

Its home "port" is Greenshore, the Fowlers' scenic resort on Lake Austin. The couple is commemorating the riverboat's anniversary by reenacting its original maiden voyage—a two-hour trip from Greenshore to the Austin dam and back. It will be complete with Gov. John Connally and many other state national and local officials on board as guests with flags flying and band playing. Riverboat Commodore can accommodate some 250 persons. The Fowlers have invited all Texans to bring their boats to Lake Austin on Sunday and join in the gala escort down the lake. The Riverboat Commodore is the only inland boat belonging to the Texas Navy and the largest riverboat still navigating in this part of the world.

Signs Point To Good Year For Beef Producers

COLLEGE STATION
All signs point to a favorable outlook for beef producers during 1966.

John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, says cattle feeders want animals in the feed lots this year. Cow-calf operators are rebuilding their herds and a growing population with more money to spend wants meat on the table. It all leads to a rosy outlook for cattlemen.

A slight decline, 607,000 head, in the number of cattle on the nation's farms and ranches on January 1, 1966 was noted from a year earlier, he said. The number of animals was smaller in relationship to the population than it has been in several years, he noted.

McHaney said fed cattle prices in the spring will average about the same or slightly higher than in April, May and June of 1965, and remain strong for the entire first half of the year. Strength in the fed cattle market will be reflected in the feeder market, he said. Too, producers are likely to save additional heifers for their breeding herds and thus keep them out of feedlots, adding further strength to the feeder market.

Cow slaughter last year, the economist said, was 25 percent higher than in 1964, but he expects it to drop below this level in 1966. Cow prices should continue strong throughout this year.

McHaney sums up the situation this way. Cattle numbers are down slightly on January 1 as compared with a year ago. There is a growing consumer preference for beef. Population and consumer incomes will continue to rise in 1966. Grazing conditions in the nation are generally good. Cow-calf operators will likely begin to build up their herds and the smaller supply of red meats, especially pork in 1965, is likely to continue through the first half of 1966.

It all adds up, he said, to an optimistic outlook for beef cattle producers in 1966.

Steps To Boost Peanut Yield

The peanut meeting held at Rockdale last week pointed out ways to increase our county yields by following improved practices. The 1309 acres of peanuts planted in Milam county in 1965 produced an average yield of 599 pounds per acre, according to records in the ASCS Office. There are about 150 growers in the county.

Ben Spears, Specialist in Peanut Production practices, and Dr. Wendell Horne, Plant Pathologist, stressed the following steps to improve our peanut yields and quality:

1. ROTATION-Aids in disease control and effective fertilizer use. Fertilize previous crop at optimum level.

2. FERTILIZER-Use soil test recommendation. Apply broadcast prior to spring land preparation.

3. LAND PREPARATION-Deep plow with moldboard to turn under surface trash and fertilizer.

4. SEED-Plant Starr, Argentine, Dixie Spanish, or Spantex variety treated with Thiram type fungicide. Certified seed will insure varietal purity. Use medium or larger size seed. Buy seed from a reputable seedman.

5. PLANTING-Plant with care to prevent seed damage. Plant on a slightly raised bed. Under-irrigation, plant on 4-inch height beds.

6. CHEMICAL CONTROL FOR SOUTHERN BLIGHT-PCNB may be used to support other production practices in helping to avoid Southern Blight damage where irrigation is available and yield potential is high. Use of this fungicide is questionable under non-irrigated conditions unless yield potential is 65 bushels or more. Apply 10 pounds technical material per acre thoroughly mixed in the soil at planting time.

7. WEED CONTROL - Recommendations are available at the county Extension office.

8. LEAFSPOT CONTROL - Dust with 15 pounds of sulphur per acre when spots begin to appear on lower leaves. Repeat application at 14 day intervals or at 7 day intervals if weather is wet and humid. Increase rate to 25 pounds per acre for later applications.

9. INSECT CONTROL-The Guide for controlling insects is available at the county Extension office.

10. IRRIGATION-Apply water after plants begin to bloom when 50 per cent of the soil moisture has been used from the top 2 feet of soil.

OUTLOOK FOR WHEAT

Total disappearance for wheat, domestic use and exports, is expected to exceed production for the fifth consecutive year, reports John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University. Carryover stocks on June 30, 1966, may total no more than 750 million bushels, he adds. Domestic use may reach 675 million bushels, the highest in 12 years and exports may total 750 bushels.

So many components are offered you can set up a Chevy to do your special job the way you want it done. Cost is low. Resale high. Chevy's been the No. 1 truck since 1937. Put a new '66 model to work. It's bound to be No. 1 on your job for years.

For The 107th, Thanks . . .

Not many newspapers, of the thousands upon thousands in these United States, are privileged to see a second century.

The Cameron Herald starts its 107th appreciating even more the loyalty and efforts of readers to understand the task of interpreting a small city and large county in the 1960's.

We should not do so well without the co-operation of literally thousands over the years who provide news, advertising support and readership. If these thousands had not accepted The Herald its freedom of judgment, it obviously would not be.

Because of this history, Herald staffers, those present and those graduated to other responsibilities, appreciate the acceptance this of institution enjoys.

Will Red China Fight? . . .

Each story has its two sides.

The question remains as to what Red China might do should South Vietnam, as anticipated, be cleared of Vietcong.

Senator Fulbright maintains that U. S. military might could touch off Chinese intervention as it nears Chinese borders. This happened in Korea in 1950-51. And there is prospect of Chinese nuclear capability in four or five years.

Turning the coin, observers see Red Chinese influence diminished or even ousted in Cuba, Ghana, Indonesia and already divided in Russia.

If Red China, with new militant leadership succeeding ailing Mao, considers confrontation in Southeast Asia, she might have to go it alone.

One recent report notes that Red China's diplomatic corps has been reshuffled more in recent weeks than in that nation's 16 years.

If Red China were to intervene, she would want the endorsement of other new nations in the effort. And it looks as if such approval, even in a UN vote, would not be forthcoming.

If, down the road, she sought nuclear confrontation, Red China could recall Khrushchev's try in Cuba. It remains to be seen how militant China would be in such a test.

Risking the guess, we would anticipate that China will ultimately be compelled to turn inward for the resolution of her problems.

Itself reason for her containment. Red China's militancy should finally turn to greater effort for self-development.

Senate Seat Is Top State Race

AUSTIN

Both Democratic and Republican state party leaders have emphasized that victory in the U. S. Senate race is their top objective of 1966.

"We are ahead and we plan to stay ahead," Sen. John G. Tower told the GOP state executive committee.

"I am told the Senate election in Texas is the No. 1 race in the nation this year," said Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, one of the top Demo. senatorial nominees, at a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Democrats selected Austin for their September 20 state convention, at which control of their party for the next two years will be decided.

Republicans, who have no serious convention controversy in sight will meet in San Antonio.

Both party executive committees will return to Austin on May 17 to canvass first primary elections, and Democrats will certify runoff candidates, if any.

Democrats rejected a proposal by gubernatorial candidate Stanley C. Woods of Houston to head a May 7 referendum on whether Texans prefer "annual" or "permanent" registration.

SDEC Chairman Will D. Davis held that a group petitioning for a referendum on a constitutional amendment to legalize pari-mutuel horse and dog race wagering did not have its papers in order by deadline.

A Democratic committee resolution was designed to bring delegate strength in district caucuses at the 1966 state convention in line with new senatorial reapportionment. Another would discourage manipulation of county convention voting strength of new and recently-altered precincts.

Republicans named John Golsbee of Jacksonville and Roy I. Jindra of Alice to the GOP committee to fill vacancies.

Democrats picked Mrs. Gilbert Theriot of San Angelo to succeed Mrs. S. St. George Tucker, also of San Angelo, on SDEC.

OIL INDUSTRY ON UPSWING

Texas Railroad Commission, concerned as to how industry would operate in a national emergency, postponed setting statewide oil allowable until it can evaluate "the escalating market demand and underproduction."

State reached 33.2 percent of potential factor this month, highest since May, 1959, and the sixth straight increase.

Major oil company spokesmen painted a bright picture for the industry at the proration hearing, predicting demand for petroleum products will go up three to 3.5 per cent this year. Those who complained a year ago about surplus oil and gas stocks emphasized need to build up reserves.

MINING BATTLE
A Houston-based firm claims Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler is wrong in rejecting its sulphur mining claims in West Texas area (Pecos County) and has asked State Supreme Court to enjoin further action under a scheduled sale of state leases on May 3.

Duval Corporation says a 1919 law gives it the right to stake claim on land to which the state has sold surface rights on payment of 50 cents an acre annual rental plus one-sixteenth royalty if minerals are produced.

Sadler said he carefully considered bid law nullified the 1919 act and that to allow leasing under the 1919 act might deprive the state permanent school fund of millions of dollars.

Sadler said he carefully considered all aspects of law and rights of three million school children before refusing to file mining claims of the Duval Corporation.

Gov. John Connally named Randall C. Jackson, Abilene attorney with ranching and banking interests in Callahan County, to State Securities Board. Jackson succeeds Everett Fulgham, former Houstonite who moved to Arkansas.

Connally appointed Clifton W. Cassidy Jr., of Dallas, feed mill and savings and loan association official, to Texas Public Safety Commission. He succeeds W. E. Dyche Jr. of Houston.

Joseph A. Potts of San Antonio will succeed Don Marshall as director for San Antonio River Authority.

Dr. R. C. Jordan, Austin, has been appointed director of medical care administration services (medicare) in the state. Dr. Albert C. Randall has been named director of the state's consolidated tuberculosis control services; and Dr. Robert B. Skinner has been appointed director of tuberculosis hospitals at Sanatorium, Harlingen, San Antonio and Tyler.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I was sitting on a bank doing a little fishing the other day when I noticed an interesting item in a newspaper I'd brought along to sit on in case the ground was damp.

According to it, an Italian firm is now making a battery-powered fork that automatically winds up spaghetti.

An electric fork, well, why not, if you're going to tackle spaghetti, and that got me to listing all the other things in that line, like the electric carving knife, the electric tooth brush, the electric comb, the electric hair brush, the electric blanket, the electric baby bed that tilts and vibrates at the push of a button and rocks the baby to sleep, electric exercises, electric dish washer, electrically operated car windows, electric garage doors, electric chairs well I won't go into that, electric can openers, electric hog trough warmers, electric...but about that time I got a bite and dropped the newspaper and grabbed by pole.

It was a fairly large fish and I got him to the bank all right and on my stringer, and was catching my breath and deciding to rest awhile before re-baiting when the thought hit me.

What's the matter with American industry, why not an electric fishing pole?

Shouldn't be hard to build. An electric motor to reel in your line if you use a reel, another motor to cast your bait with a small computer in the handle to aim it automatically after a range-finder has indicated where it should be tossed, after your small radar set has shown where the fish are hiding.

As for an electric cane pole, that may take some doing, it's not going to be easy for science to determine where to locate the motor to make it yank the line out of the water, but in the meantime science can certainly perfect an electric fish cleaner.

I can't think of a single reason why in this modern age science can't do something to take the drudgery out of fishing.

If you don't like to fish, have you thought of perfecting an electric golf stick?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Washington. The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State.

A local political reporter has asked us to trace the history of the term "White Paper" in the United States. We have been successful in finding references to the British use, but have not been able to find when the term was first used here.

Since the Department of State has used the term, we hope you can help us.

M. B.
Fresno, Cal.

Dear Mrs. B.:

The term "White Paper" has no official standing in the United States, but has from time to time been used informally to refer to publications, both documentary and narrative, of a significantly revealing nature, particularly with respect to negotiations or other political developments which were not immediately a matter of public record. We have no information as to when the term was first used in this informal way to refer to a publication of the United States Government.

There has been British usage of the term for more than a hundred years. In its original or basic meaning, "White Paper" refers to one of a series of British parliamentary publications

San Antonio and Tyler.

Chamber Endorses Inventions Show

As part of the Industrial Development effort of the Chamber of Commerce, Pres. Monroe Fuchs is urging all inventors and manufacturers in the community to attend the Texas Inventions Exposition to be held in Corpus Christi April 1 and 2.

"In order to help in the creation of new, home grown industry and to encourage the expansion of existing manufacturers," Fuchs said, "the Chamber is cooperating with the Texas Industrial Commission in its industrial development program."

"There is a possibility that new firms created as a result of the Inventions Exposition could be in our town," he said. "This project is definitely a part of our present program of industrial development - a program designed to increase employment by expansion of existing firms and creation of new manufacturing plants."

The Inventions Exposition is open to inventors with patents or patent-pending. Manufacturers interested in new product lines for plant expansion are especially invited to attend. Full details are available from the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 640, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Monsieur Jean Bauchet is an art collector and a connoisseur of fine automobiles. He understands that quiet in a car means quality. After driving a '66 Ford XL, he said, "They would not have to make Paris streets so smooth if all cars rode like this."

Who says a '66 Ford rides quieter than Jean Bauchet's $12,000 Facel Vega?

Jean Bauchet!

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently toured Europe demonstrating the exceptional quality of the '66 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses a '66 Ford XL with Monsieur Bauchet outside of Monsieur Bauchet's Paris home.

"Such smoothness, such silence," says Jean Bauchet. "Your Ford is quieter, M'sieu."

Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations... the strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way. Only Ford in its class offers a Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that brings you over an hour of uninterrupted music of your choice, on each self-threading, snap-in tape cartridge. Magic Doorgate for wagons (standard equipment) that opens out like a door and down like a tailgate, depending on whether you are loading kids or cargo. Silent-Flo Ventilation (on 4-door hardtops) that brings in fresh air and gets rid of smoke and stale air with the windows closed. Even Ford's keys are special—they're double-edged so they fit in locks either side up. Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford. See how many ways Ford can put you ahead in '66.

You're ahead in a FORD all the way!

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH THIS WEEK

Millions Leave Them There!

THE WORK BENCHES OF GOD

Christians are not turned out on assembly lines.

The skill and patience of many a human soul, the blueprint of Christ's own example, and the unseen but mighty craftsmanship of the Creator Himself—these over the decades bring forth a noble Christian life.

There must be understanding, guidance, faith. There must be a Christian home with sincere, loving parents. There must be prayer, the Bible, worship, thought, study. And at length practice and persistence must win many a victory over self before the world begins to recognize the hand of God in the life of a man.

Nearby in the church you will choose, there are busy hands at the work benches of God.

And room for more—your child's and your own!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE

"THE LIGHT WAS GREEN"
At busy corners all over the country stand familiar machines, designed to help automate justice. We call them traffic signals, and they deliver a clear and simple rule of law: green means go, red means stop.

Unhappily, justice is far too complicated for total automation. The signals do help, but they cannot give a final answer. In fact, they are sometimes no more than a starting point in the process of telling right from wrong.

For example:

A motorist, sued for knocking down a pedestrian, offered this defense in court:

"The light was green when I entered the intersection, so I had a right to go through."

But the pedestrian too had started across lawfully, on a green light. The motorist was held liable for relying blindly on the signal, not giving the pedestrian a fair chance to complete his crossing. As one judge phrased it:

"A green light is not a command to go, but only a limited permission."

In another case a motorist was held negligent, again in spite of a green light, for colliding with an ambulance. Evidence showed that the ambulance had its siren on, that others heard it plainly, and that the motorist's window was down and his radio off.

Nor does a green light, becoming in the distance, justify bad driving in an effort to get there before it changes.

One motorist, with that in mind, crowded close behind the car ahead of him. When the light changed to amber, the front car was able to make a proper stop. But the following motorist could not. Result: a bad crash, for which the impatient driver was duly held liable.

Just as green doesn't always mean go, neither does red always mean stop. For instance, emergency vehicles are often given the right by local law to go through a red light.

Yet even this special right is not clear-cut. Thus it was held negligent for an ambulance driver to race through a red light at a dangerous corner, without sounding his siren, when there was no medical need for haste.

The court held that even an ambulance must respect the one bedrock rule that underlies all the rest:

mand to go, but only a limited permission.

In another case a motorist was held negligent, again in spite of a green light, for colliding with an ambulance. Evidence showed that the ambulance had its siren on, that others heard it plainly, and that the motorist's window was down and his radio off.

Nor does a green light, becoming in the distance, justify bad driving in an effort to get there before it changes.

One motorist, with that in mind, crowded close behind the car ahead of him. When the light changed to amber, the front car was able to make a proper stop. But the following motorist could not. Result: a bad crash, for which the impatient driver was duly held liable.

Just as green doesn't always mean go, neither does red always mean stop. For instance, emergency vehicles are often given the right by local law to go through a red light.

Yet even this special right is not clear-cut. Thus it was held negligent for an ambulance driver to race through a red light at a dangerous corner, without sounding his siren, when there was no medical need for haste.

The court held that even an ambulance must respect the one bedrock rule that underlies all the rest:

IRS Answers Tax Questions

Editor's note: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - Is all the interest I get on my savings account taxable or just the amount over $10?

A - All your interest must be reported as taxable income. Banks and other savings institutions are required to report to us the payments they made of $10 or more to any person during a calendar year.

Q - Do men in the Armed Forces have to pay tax on their pay?

A - Unless they are serving in combat zone - Vietnam - their pay is subject to income tax. Members of the Armed Forces serving in Vietnam or hospitalized as a result of such service, are entitled to a exclusion from gross income. All compensation to enlisted men and warrant officers for such service is excludable. For commissioned officers, the first $200 per month of such compensation is excludable.

Q - I have a company pension. Is it taxable?

A - The full amount of pension received is taxable if you did not contribute to the cost of the pension. If you as well as the company contributed to the pension, that portion paid by the company will represent taxable income to you.

The instructions for Schedule B Form 1040 explain how to handle pensions. Copies are available at local IRS offices.

Q - My uncle gave me $200 last Christmas. This money brought my income to over $600. Does that mean I have to file a return?

A - The gift from your uncle is not taxable income and does not have to be reported. A return is therefore not required since your taxable income was under $600 for the year. However, if any tax was withheld from your earnings, a return has to be filed to obtain a refund.

Q - Someone told me that when you drive your car to a doctor's office or hospital you may deduct your travel costs as medical expenses. Is that right?

A - Transportation costs to obtain medical care or treatment are a deductible expense, if you otherwise qualify for a medical expense deduction. You may deduct 5 cents a mile for this purpose when you drive.

Note that the deduction is only allowed to obtain treatment. You don't get this deduction if you are going to visit someone in the hospital or if your doctor has advised a change of environment for you.

Q - What is the general rule on bond interest? Which are taxable and which are not?

A - Generally bonds issued by private businesses and by the U. S. Government yield interest that is fully taxable. The interest on bonds issued by states, municipalities, the District of Columbia or U. S. possessions is not taxable.

Q - What is the maximum on which you can compute the credit against tax for retirement income?

A - The maximum is $3,038 when both husband and wife are 65 or over and file a joint return if both have qualified for the credit. This tax provision and others that benefit older people are explained in IRS Document No. 5569, "Tax Benefits For Older Americans." It is available free at local IRS offices.

Q - I lent money to a friend of mine. He's lost his job and it looks like he won't be able to pay me back the amount I lent?

A - If there is no likelihood that the debt may be recovered even by going to court then you may deduct the amount of the loan as a short term capital loss. This should be reported on Schedule D.

Note that loans to children and other relatives generally are not considered legal debts and cannot be deducted. Should you recover the amount of the debt at any time in the future it should be included in your income, subject to special rules.

Q - I've got a new job several hundred miles away from my home. Until I get my family moved I've been commuting week-ends. Can I deduct any of these costs or what I spend on meals or hotel bills?

A - Your home for income tax purposes is your place of employment. In the situation you describe, it would seem that you would not be able to deduct either your travel or living costs.

If your company had assigned you temporarily to another location, your travel and living expense costs could well be a deductible item. This subject is discussed at some length in Publication 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses." A copy of this booklet may be obtained free at local IRS offices.

Q - Is there any limit on what you take when you use the minimum standard deduction?

A - Yes there is. The limit is $50 for married persons filing separately and $1,000 for single persons or married couples filing jointly.

Q - How much can you get in dividends before you have to pay taxes on them?

A - The first $100 in qualifying dividends is not taxable. When both husband and wife have dividends, then each of them is entitled to exclude $100 from his own dividends, whether they file jointly or separately.

Q - My wife was ill for several weeks last year and we had to get someone to come in and look after the kids. Can we deduct that cost?

A - The illness would have to last at least 90 days before you would be eligible for the child care deduction. Further details on this subject may be found on page 9 of the Form 1040 instructions and in IRS Document No. 5552, "Child Care." These publications are available at no charge from local IRS offices. The provisions of law regarding this deduction are quite technical and the instructions should be obtained and studied before claiming any child care expenses as a deduction.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Do You Make People Think You're A Wonderful Cook?

by Jane Sherrod Singer

If you are one of those unfortunates, as many women are, who are surrounded by people who never compliment the outcome of your hours in the kitchen, here are some hints that may evoke praise after all. Or, if the silence still hangs glumly over the table, console yourself that they think you're an artist anyway.

	YES	NO
1. Do you make it an iron-clad rule that television must be turned off during mealtimes?	()	()
2. Do you plan your meals ahead of time instead of throwing something on the table at the last minute?	()	()
3. Do you have a larder of special things, spices, olives, capers—little surprises that dress a meal?	()	()
4. Do you insist that problems be discussed at a time other than mealtimes?	()	()
5. Have you perfected several dishes which you consider your specialties?	()	()
6. Is your food served attractively—spotless table, not too much on a plate, no juices running over the edges, good color combination?	()	()
7. Do you give your family or guests a few minutes to relax before eating?	()	()
8. Do you have a library of cookbooks which you read and use?	()	()
9. Do you make a special effort to serve food and beverages at their correct temperature?	()	()
10. As best you can, do you observe special diet rules or taste preferences of your guests or your family?	()	()

ANSWERS: Desirably, you should have answered all YES.

SCORING: 8 to 10 correct answers: You are considered a good cook and hostess. People may not rave, but that is their short-coming—not yours. Enjoy yourself with that knowledge.

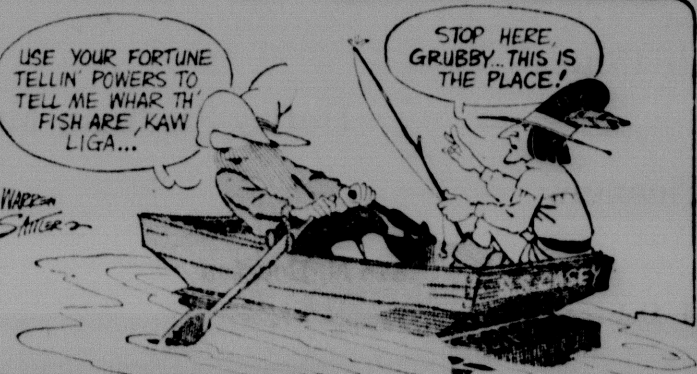

4 to 7 correct answers: You consider meals as just a routine of life—something to get over with as little notice as possible.
